

Sixth Grade Parent Letter

October 15, 2010

Dear Parents or Guardians:

I am not sending home grades this week because of trying to get the grade cards ready to send home next week.

Parent-Teacher conferences will be October 22 call and schedule your appointment.

I have a policy concerning late work and it is that it will not be accepted unless they have been absent. The students are having a terrible time getting their work in on time and in some cases it is not being turned in at all. I am trying to address this problem so that it does not get out of hand. Some of the grades on the grade card will reflect the fact that students have not turned in work. Missing assignments are zeros in the grade book. I did make several copies of missing assignments for the students and even then I did not receive the assignments.

Starting this quarter we will take one Spelling test each week and that will be on Thursday. I will also be checking the AR goal this next quarter and making sure that the students have the correct percentage for the time frame, instead of waiting until the last couple of weeks and then rushing to try and meet the goal. Next year it will count as part of their grade.
